I Don't Have Time to Manage Requirements — My Project is Late Already!

Although project managers recognize the importance of getting customer requirements right, finding the time to collect those requirements is challenging. This webinar clears up the confusion between managing the project and managing the requirements, and provides a consultative approach to asking for the time to manage the requirements.

Our presenter, Elizabeth Larson, Principal, PMP, CBAP, CSM, is CEO of Watermark Learning and has over 30 years of practical project experience.

Originally presented 28 June 2012 on the Requirements Management Community of Practice.

Attendees will be able to:

- Define requirements management.
- Distinguish between managing the project and the product requirements.
- Describe the consultant's approach to requirements management.

Webinar Length - 43:45
